"Our Instructor" Patrick Brown

In our journeys through life, we occasionally face truly exceptional experiences. These can be life changing experiences, remembered for the rest of our lives. They can be great and they can be tragic.

A handful of our community experienced the latter last week at Northern Farm, at close hand, and the repercussions have been felt across the wider community. But, as a community, I know that every one of us who had anything to do with Patrick has also experienced greatness.

The accolades that have flowed over the past week bear testimony to just how much of a positive impact Patrick had on everyone he touched. He was a sportsman in the classic meaning of the word, an example to all of us, and each of our journeys through this life is immeasurably richer because of him.

To all the competitors and their connections, to the helpers and the officials, as we recall how much our journey in life has been enhanced by Patrick's presence in it, I wish you all the best for the show.
